Other men went into the market through purchase of stocks in the corporations for which they worked. At first buying stocks outright, they were lured by the built market into trobling their holdings through margin accounts. Approximately $250 to $350 is required for the average margin account of 25 shares. This money represents 35 per cent, of the value of the 25 shares. The buyer, who pays the brokerage house a small commission for negotiating the sale, owes the house 65 per cent of the value of the stock at purchase price. If the £cock rises in value, this woney any neverage in speculator may sell, receiving his profits. But if the stock decilines the margin speculator must still settle on the oasis of the purchase price.

Stein-lage, 20-year-old son of John G. teinlage, owner of the Quality Dairy Co., 4630 North Floriment avenue. Young Steinlage was the driver of an automobile that struck and killed Elba Reed, 15, 3645 Dodier street, as she was crossing North Grand boulevard early Oct. 23 en route to the Mulianphy Hos-pital, where she was employed as a pital, where she was employed as a waitress.

A trail of spilled milk led Police Captain William Tierney to Steinlage, who at first denied he had struck anyone, but later admitted, according to the Captain, that he had fallen asleep at the wheel and had field after killing the girl.

Reporters were informed that the grand jury considered an indictment on a manslaughter charge, but failed to vote it. Steinlage lives with his parents at 4624 West Florisaant avenue.

lives with his parents at 4624 West Florissant avenue.

The penalty for manslaughter is from two to 10 years imprisonment. Leaving the scene of an accident, under a felony indictment, is punishable by a prison term of from two to five years, but juries are instructed that there are alternative gunishments contained in misdemeanor statutes, which make the penalty a jail term not exceeding one year, a fine not exceeding $100, or both.

Police Looking for Driver Who Backed Into Woman and Fied.
Police are searching for the driver of a machine which backed into Miss Margaret McKill, 1457

Mississippi River Fuel Corporation to Supply Number of Large Industrial

Natural gas from Louisiana will be supplied to industrial users in the St. Louis area within the next few weeks through a 431-mile pipe line recently completed by the Mississippi River Fuel Corporation at a cost of about $30,000,000.

Gas has been placed in the line as far north as Barnhart, in Jefferson County, about 25 miles south of St. Louis, and when final tests are made of the section between Barnhart and St. Louis the pipe will be placed in use.

The pipe,, 23 inches in diameter in most places, approaches St. Louis through Shrewsbury and follows the rights-of-way of the Missouri Pacific and Frisco railroads to the Tower Grove stations, proceeding from there along the southern branch of the Missouri Pacific to the Koken Manufacturing Co., 3400 Morganford road.

The gas will not be supplied to demonstrate consumers but contracts domestic consumers, but contracts have been signed with a number of large industrial users whose plants are near the pipe line, among them are near the pipe line, among them the Koken company, Pittsburg Plate Glass Co., Scullin Steel Co., Hydraulic Press Brick Co., St. Louis Screw & Bolt Co. and St. Louis Malleable Casting Co.

Natural gas also will be sold to the Missouri Industrial Gas Co., organized by the Utilities Power & Light Co., which owns the Laclede Gas Light Co. The Missouri Industrial Gas Co., which has offices in Gas Light Co. The missour; indus-trial Gas Co., which has offices in the Laclede Gas Company's build-ing, will sell the gas to other in-dustrial users.

One Branch Across River.

The main line from Louisiana is divided near the Lemay Ferry road and Meramec River, one branch going on to St. Louis, the other being laid east across the Mississippi River into Illinois. This line passes through East St. Louis, Granite City and has its terminus in Alton.

in Alton.

The natural gas tests about 1000 British Thermal Units per cuble foot, which means that it burns with an intensity almost twice as great as that of manufactured gas, which rates about 600 B. T. U. The Mississippi River Fuel Corporation has not made public the price of the gas to consumers, regarding itself as a private enterprise and dealing with its customers through individual contracts, but the gas is sold in competition with coal and other fuels which have been used in the manufacture of steel, glass, ceramics and cement. nics and cement.

The Public Utilities Committee of the Board of Aldermen, which is inquiring into the validity of a permit issued by the Board of Public Service, enabling the Mississippi company to lay its pipe across 25 city streets, was told yest. day by City Counsellor Muench that the pipe line company and that the pipe line company ap-peared to be a public utility. The opinion was verbal and informal.

Muench said he did not think the soard of Public Service had exeeded its authority in granting the permit, however. The permit makes no provision for regulation of the company by the city, nor for com-pensation to the city for use of its streets, but the permit itself may be revoked at any time, he pointed out. In that event the Mississippi company could be prevented from using its pipes or compelled to remove them. . The Board of Aldermen has move them.

The Board of Aldermen has taken the position that the Mississippi company should have applied to it for a franchise before laying its pipes across city streets. The streets affected are not principal thoroughfares, being crossed also by the railroad rights of way along which the pipe is laid and others existing only on plats.

The Mississippi company is owned by companies which operate in the oil fields from which the gas is secured. These companies are the Electric Light and Power Corporation, Columbian Carbon Co., Palmer Corporation, United Carbon Co., Moody-Seagraves Co., and the Standiard Oil Co. of New Jersey. The pipe line company has its general offices in St. Louis at 50s North Fourth street. Christy Payns of Pittsburg is president of the company. B. C. Comfort is manager of the St. Louis office.

Construction of the pipe line which has its southern terminus at Perryville, La., began last April. It is laid along a purchased right of way, about three feet under ground. The line was laid in ninemfile sections with provision for pumping stations throughout its length to maintain a constant pressure of 150 pounds. The capacity of the line is figured at 100,000,000 cubic feet a day, and it is entimated that gas entering the pipe at Perryville will be in St. Louis 24 hours later.

MARVINETTE. Wis., Nov. 7—
More than 100 striking students were back at their deaks at Marinette High School today after a one-day walkout which ended in failure after Principal W. B.
Senty had threatened to curtail all extra-curricular activities. Three hundred others refused to join the strikers.

The students walked out of their classrooms Tuesday in protest against the suspension of three members of the football team who participated in a party at which school authorities said liquor was served. The suspension came on the eve of the annual football classic between Marinette and its ancient rival, Menominee, Mich.,
across the Michigan border.

John Goray and Leo Arendt, both juniors, were suspended be cause they were the strike leaders.
Principal Senty said all students who participated in the strike would be ineligible for extra-curricular activities this year.

"There are no groups of people isolated by the lave.

"From Madatenango the sone is completely covered with ashes, with the atmosphere tainted with a strong odor of sulphur."

One newspaper said authorities calculated as many as 45 deaths from the disaster, with $1,000,000 loss to the farms through the molten lava. Twenty-one bodies have been recovered at El Palmar. There are 25,000 inhabitants in the affected area. Some officials yesterday estimated the number of dead at 400.

dead at 400.

Elever persons injured in the eruption were brought to the nearby town of San Felipe with bad burns on their faces and hands from steam which arose when yesterday's rain fell on the molten lava. They said great balls of fire had fallen on ranches near the volcane.

D. G. Richardson, superintendent of operations of the Mexican Aviation Co., cabled the Associated Press yesterday after a flight over the volcano area: "I saw something which will live in my memory, an island surrounded by a moving mass of lava which must be getting higher and higher. And on the island were men, women and children trapped with no hope of escaping a horrible death unless old Santa Maria so decrees.

MISTAKE IN INITIAL GAUSES CHARGE TO BE DISMISSED

t. Clair County State's Attorney, However, to Reinstate Slot Machine Case. After obtaining the dismissal of a slot-machine possession case against Charles P. Holten, East St. against Charles P. Holten, East St.
Louis saloon keeper, on information that Holten was dead, State's Attorney Lindauer of St. Clair County learned yesterday that the man who died was not Charles P. Holten, but his father, Charles J. Holten, night watchman at the Knights of Columbus Clair.

Lindauer announced that the charge against Holten would be reinstated and prosecuted in County Court at Belleville. He explained that one of his assistants had been misinformed and that he accepted the faulty information without investigation.

Holten was arrested last spring in a raid by East St. Louis Deputy Sheriffs, who seized a quantity of liquor and two slot machines. Holten was convicted of a liquor charge in Federal Court and sentenced to six months in Danville jail, being released a month ago.

St. Louis Party to Join in Keel-Laying of Navy Dirigible.

A group of Shell Oil Co. officers departed from Lambert-St. Louis Field this morning in the Gold Shell tri-motored Fokker transport for Akron, O., to participate in the ceremonies in connection with laying the keel of the ZRS4, one of two huge dirigibles to be constructed for the United States Navy.

The party making the trip includes F. C. Jenkina, assistant sales manager, and Col. T. A. Peck, lubrication engineer. Milt Girton is the pilot.

The ZRS-4 will be 785 feet long

The ZRS-4 will be 785 feet long and 146 feet high. The Governors of Ohio and Michigan, United States Senator Bingham and Rear Admiral Moffat, commander of the Navy air forces, are scheduled to take part in the ceremonies today.

Prison Reformer's Aid Faces Life Sentence New York Worman Hers to Address to

C. J. Donovan, Once Thomas Mott Osborn's Right-Hand Man, Jailed Again in New York for Forgery.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK. Nov. 7.—Cornelius
J. Donovan, alias Dick Richards, right-hand man of Thomas Mott Osborne when that reformer was Warden of Sing Sing prison, and America's most incorrigible forger, is in the Tombs facing a life sentence under the Baumes act for swindling a Fifth avenue jewelry house of $1500 in rings by posing as a member of Gov. Rooseveit's household.

Denovan, or Richards, as he has been known for most of his 55 years, in the line-up in Police Headquarters admitted the theft and also that he had obtained two typewriters from a downtown firm on forged checks. The rings and the typewriters he pawned, he said, lowing the proceeds on the races.

up at a conference on prison retorm held in Gov. Rooseveit's home and attended by many eminent penologists. Donovan took an active part in the conference until he was recognized by an attache of Sing Sing and was asked to retire.

Donovan once said that twothirds of his life had been spent in correctional institutions. With the Donovan, who was taken to adquarters from Bellevue, where he was treated for mainutrition following his arrest late in Sep tember, went to the store of Black, Starr & Frost on Sept. 22, and repsenting himself as one of Gov.

The next day he went to the Roosevelt home, presented the card of a salesman of the firm and when explained that the rings had been sent by mistake they were given to him. A few days later Detective William Sinnott arrested him near Times Square. "It's all right," 'he told the de-ective. "I guesa it's best. I'll get omething to eat now."

The man was starving and suffering from rheumatism. A police surgeon sent him to the prison ward in Bellevue.

Donovan, who was born in New-York City, served his first term of imprisonment in 1890 when sent to the Catholic Protectory for for-gery. He served three years there, during which time he became an expert stenographr. In 1907 he was in Sing Sing for forgery, serving two years. He was back again in 1911 for four years.

While he was serving this term Osborne came to the prison as Warden. He made Donovan, as he was best known, his secretary and on the expiration of his sentence rethe expiration of his sentence re-tained him in that capacity.

It was on Donovan's advice, against that of older friends, that Osborne resigned from Sing Sing to stump the State against Gov. Whitman.

Not long thereafter, Denevan went to Baltimore, where he got one of the former Warden's classmates to cash a check for $5000 purporting to bear Osborne's signature. A week later when he was arrested at a race track he had lost all of it but a few dollars. Osborne made good the check.

The police again arrested Donovan in 1918, when he was sent to Blackwell's Island. Again the charge was forgery. In 1921 he re-

PAIR FOUND SHOT TO DEATH AFTER QUARREL OVER RING hason County (Kan.) Coroner Thinks Man Killed Woman,

Then Self. By the Associated Press.

KANSAS CITY, Kan., Nov. 6.—
Delving into what was first thought a double murder. Dr. R. L. Moberly, Johnson County (Kan.) Coroner, today said investigation indicated that Jesse J. Barnwell 55 years old, shot Mrs. Minnie Hara, 15, during a quarrel over a $265 engagement ring, and then took his own life after a two-day vigil over the body.

The woman had been dead about four days when the bodies were found late yesterday by a mail carrier who called at the Hare home in Merriam, Kan., a suburb, to deliver a special delivery letter.

THE new cosmetology law, therefore, safeguards not only the health of the citizens of this great commonwealth by legislation against unsanitary beauty parlors and hairdressing shops, but also conserves the personal beauty of its individual citizens who patronize beauty shops and hairdressing parlors, by requiring that all operators in commercial business of that type, must prove themselves capable and experienced in their art by undergoing an examination before the Missouri State

THE successful applicants are given licenses which testify that the holders are duly qualified to pursue the art of beautifying and preserving the complexion of all who apply to them for expert advice

v order that all persons who patronize beauty culture establishment may be further protected, this new cosmetology law makes it illegal for anyone to practice any form of beauty culture in Missouri without a license from the State Board of Health, which license must be con-

THIS new law, therefore, offers every safeguard to persons who patronize beauty parlors by insisting upon trained and capable operators in all business places where beauty culture and the preservation of the beauty of the skin, hair and complexion through external applica-

IT was necessary that Missouri legislators should add the cosmetology law to the statute books because the popularity of bobbed hair among the feminine portion of the population, to say nothing of marcel waves, face lifts, permanent waves, finger waving, manicuring, scalp treatments and complexion bleaching caused an unprecedented demand

THESE new and continued changes in hair dressing turned a continued stream of customers into the old-established hairdressing parlors and beauty shops which were not numerous enough to adequately care

MISSOURI, which has ever been in the forefront in guarding the public health, this year added a cosmetology law to its health protective legislation. Cosmetology, the dictionary tells us, treats of the art of improving or beautifying the skin, hair and complexion through external applications.

COSMETOLOGISTS of the old school had been carefully trained and they were dismayed at the turn of events. They organized nationally, prepared a model bill for the protection of the public against malpractitioners and proceeded to introduce it in several states.

HERE in St. Louis the initial steps were taken by the St. Louis Hairdressers' and Cosmeticians' Association. A bill was presented at Jefferson City and finally became a law (1925). This bill had been so amended, however, that it was found unsatisfactory and was repealed in 1927.

WITH surrounding states protected by legislation, Missouri soon became the dumping ground of the incompetent operators who could not "make the grade" there. Conditions went from bad to worse.

THE St. Louis and Missouri Hairdressers' and Cosmeticians' Association saw that something must be done. It accordingly coupled up with the National Hairdressers' and Cosmetologists' Association, with which it is affiliated. A mass meeting was arranged in St. Louis where the whole profession could express its wishes. An overwhelming demand for legislation to protect the public was the result. The National Association's model bill was then used as a basis and whipped into shape for introduction into the Missouri legislature.

WITH the valuable assistance of others in the profession the St. Louis Hairdressers' and Cosmeticians' Association took the initiative and worked for the passage of the Missouri Cosmetology Law. Afterwards the Missouri Association, in conjunction with the national Association, arranged meetings in the different parts of the state where Dr. James Stewart of the Board of Health (under which the cosmetology law functions) could expound it; and finally the state was circularized several times so that the whole profession could be properly informed to the workings of the new bill.

(Note: This is the second of a series of advertisements to appear for five consecut weeks which will give pertinent information for the benefit of the great number women who patronize hairdressers and cosmetologists.)

SPRINGFIELD, MO., POLICE CHIEF INDICTED FOR DRY PLOT occused by U. S. Jury of Conspiracy

By the Associated Press.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 7.—
An indictment charging C. C. Pike,
Chief of Police of Springfield, Mo., with conspiracy with an alleged bootlegger to violate the prohibition law and with transportation of 13 gallons of alcohol, was returned here today in Federal District Court. Chief Pike already is under indictment for alleged conspiracy, the action being taken some time ago by a Federal grand jury in Spring-dictment Pike is accused of con-spiring with John Yancey, now serving a sentence in the Federal pentientiary at Leavenworth for bootlegging. Yancey, it is alleged paid the chief $50 a month for several months in 1928 for protec-tion. It also is alleged that Chief Pike telephoned Yancey, previous to a raid on the latter's place, and told the bootlegger that a raid was being planned and that it would being planned and that it would be well if the officers found a little alcohol. This plan was carried out, it was asserted, in order to divert suspicion that any protection was being furnished.

The transportation charge alleges that Chief Pike transported 12 gallons of alcohol in his own automobile about the streets of Springfield on the night of Sept. 16, 1928.

These speech pictures were hrown on a canvas screen, where they literally talked, by turning themselves back into speech. The pictures were the sound track of a movie film, magnified with a stere-opticon until the row of jagged shadows which represents spoken sounds was as big as a line of picture.

As this row moved across the canvass the alternating lights and shadows penetrated a slit in the loth and fell upon a mirror, were reflected to a photo-electric cell and turned into words. As the speech translation was Great Britain's exports of $62,000,000 in 1925-1926 dwindled to $48, 000,000 in 1926-1927, and to $23,000,000 in 1927-1928. These figures illustrate forcibly why one of the first acts of Ramsay MacDonald's Government was to negotiate with the Soviet, especially since by a 1918 decree the Soviet monopolized foreign trade. The decree reads: "Transactions for the purchase and sale of all products with foreign states . . . are concluded in the name of the Russian Republic by specially empowered representatives." That means that the Soviet Government can, if it chooses, make Great Britain the preferred market for its purchases.

Life loves nothing more than these little perversities. People who have lived long enough to marry their children off have learned all about it. Some dreadful thing always happens. Either the rich uncle whose money the family expects does not get his invitation, or something equally dreadful turns up.

The principle difference between the Grundy and the "Big Four" lobbying efforts is that Grundy's contributors got more for their money.

OUR CONDEMNATION PROBLEM.

Valuable for the future is the Bar Association's plan to simplify laws relating to condemnation of property for public uses, but what St. Louis needs now is a diligent application of the present laws. Cumbersome as they are, the processes of applying them have been more so. The Circuit Judges, for one reason or another, have not made the most of their opportunities to speed up the condemnation proceedings involved in the $87,000,000 bond issue

The remedy for the delay is at hand in the appointment by the Governor of two new Circuit Judges. The best use that can be made of them is to assign them to sit, to the exclusion of all other work, on the tled. We feel sure that, if such action is taken, the present condemnation problem will solve itself in a surprisingly short time.

ST. LOUIS AND FOREIGN TRADE.

St. Louis has long been known as a national manu facturing and jobbing center, and indications are secumulating that in years to come it will be a world mart as well. All nations are being drawn closer together nowadays by peace treaties, radio, air planes, the ocean telephone and swifter transports tion and communication. Trade obtains a wider field with each new development, and the products of St. Louis are gradually moving to farther horizons. recent survey shows customers of St. Louis firms in 93 foreign countries, with purchases totaling more than $40,000,000 a year. A map recently prepared by the Chamber of Commerce Foreign Trade Bureau shows St. Louis goods going to every country in the Western Hemisphere, to virtually every nation of Europe, and to far-away spots in Africa and Asia.

Development of the Mississippi River will provide s more direct line to the foreign customers of St Louis. With generous Government appropriation for river work, with successful barge lines, with Mr. Hoover's far-seeing view of the potentialities of waterways, St. Louis will become a mightier figure in the markets of other nations.

A powerful stimulus will be given to local interes in commerce abroad by the one-day foreign trade conference to be held here next Wednesday. The Federal Department of Commerce recognizes the importance of this meeting, and will send several of its foreign trade experts to make addresses. Other speakers will include exporters who will tell of their experiences. Men from many cities of the Missi Valley will attend the meeting. Its purpose is stated to be for giving added impetus to the growth of foreign trade and also to educate in its possibilities manufacturers and jobbers who are not now so en gaged. #### The Little Foxes

Those Scriptural pests that spoil the vines are found in our gardens, our good works and in politics; in movement for world peace they appear in the person of shipbuilders, munition makers and Shearers; Senate's housecleaning may have wholesome result; self-servers also at bottom of Palestine trouble and European unrest.

John Palmer Gavit in the Survey Graphic.

ONCE upon a time there was—in my own mind—a bed of strawberries, particularly large and wide. There was to be sure also, and likewise large and vide, actually a bed of strawberry plants. I tended them like-well, as a certain sort of modern woman tends her dog. They flourished amazingly, and my mouth waise of the seedsman's catalogue,

But suddenly, out of a clear sky, or, rather, out of the woods that flanked my garden, came in the night a secret So. thing that dug up those plants, one by one, In the end, he got them all. A skunk. I never could catch him, though I set traps and laid in wait suitably equipped for vengeance and prevention-at longish range,

Now, that pesky brute had nothing against me, and bore no malice against strawberry plants. What he was after was certain fat white grubs which nestled amo the roots of those thrifty plants. If he had asked me I could and gladly would have shown the skunk how to get them out without uprooting the whole business. But I never met him (though at times I had reason to suspect his proximity) and I was left with only a barren space, scattered with the corpses of my hopes. And to reflect with remark of an ancient colleague in the planting business: "Take us the foxes, the little foxes, that spoil the vines."

These pathetic words from the Song of Songs have been used as text for thousands of sermons, about the little insidious things, sin original and acquired subterraneo and even subconsciously, undermining, up-rooting, scuttling, the good intentions and good works and aspirations of mankind, Almost always, when a fine thing or a fine hope withers, you will find down in the roots some burrowing parasite, probably with no definite malice against the good as such; only seeking regardless of collateral or future consequences, some sort of fat

The total naval appropriation of the United States for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1930, is $378,879,067, including $48,550,000 for new ships. What sort of iction was to have been expected, on the part of those whose bread and butter, to say nothing of professional advancement, to proposals to cut down substantially rather than to increase progressively as they would naturally desire, the expenditure of public money for naval purposes? We optimists, Poliyannas who think some-thing is accomplished when fine words are sald about peace and disarmament, are defective in bare common sense if surprised that naval officers on shore or at sea, ship-builders, munitions makers and so on, raily all their forces to save their jobs, their contracts, their profits on invested capital.

And now it appears that during the solutions of the solutions of the solutions of the solutions.

On the whole, however, it may be a me housecleaning. When what-you call-'ems fall out-such for instance as legislative agents, publicity experts, super-patriots and their gullible employers and subsidizers—the rest of us stand some chance to look down among the roots at the workings of the fat grubs and the little foxes that spoil the vines.

The little foxes are not always people; though generally you will find some-body's pocket-interest at the bottom. There are many people dead in Palestin just now, about an old wall. The so-called "Walling Wall," last remaining fragment of the ancient temple. The Moslem agitators and a certain aggressive type of young Jew, under the guise of fidelity to group interests -patriotism, if you want to call it that-

In various parts of Europe today there are upward of 30,000,000 people constituting, chiefly as the result of the peace treaties, racial minorities; that is, large groups marked off from their natural alegiance on what is for them the wrong side of the new national boundaries. The guaranteed protection of these minorities is one of the most difficult problems of the League of Nations; but even within any nority it is no easy one. Despite the best ns to provide fair dealing, and all attempts to mediate, there are always those whose interests, political and otherwise, lead them to foment trouble, to exaggerate wrongs, to incite insurrections.

On such things as these the "little foxes" of all nations subsist. In every uproar you an find them if you look. Usually uncovered, they ostentatiously, and indigantly proclaim their devotion to the welfare of their people; but nine times in the "hundred-percenter" is busy in one way or another "putting the 'pay' into patriotm." or rather, getting it out. Exploiting for his own pocket or other selfish purpose the high explosives which endanger the peace of the world. It is an old, old game; by no means a peculiarly American pheno-menon. Wherever he is at work, he cares sittle what priceless plant he may endanger; he is after the fat white grubs.

Youth Has Found The Way!

AMERICAN INTELLIGENCE has cultivated the fertile field of opportunity and invites everyone to roam in search of desired pursuits. Nothing remains of that ancient prejudice which bound the apprentice, without choice, to his career.

"toasting did it"-Gone is that ancient prejudice against cigarettes—Progress has been made. We removed the prejudice against cigarettes when we removed harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from the tobaccos.

TEARS ago, when cigarettes were made without the aid of modern science, there originated that ancient prejudice against all cigarettes. That criticism is no longer justified. LUCKY STRIKE, the finest cigarette you ever smoked, made of the choicest tobacco, properly aged and skillfully blended-"It's Toasted."

"TOASTING," the most modern step in cigarette manufacture, removes from LUCKY STRIKE harmful irritants which are present in cigarettes manufactured in the old-fashioned way.

Everyone knows that heat purifies, and so "TOASTING"-LUCKY STRIKE'S extra secret process—removes harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from LUCKIES which in the old-fashioned manufacture of cigarettes cause throat irritation and coughing. Thus "TOASTING" has destroyed that ancient prejudice against cigarette smoking by men and by women.

There the plane lay safely all winter up to its neck in a snowdrift, a unique hangar.

Working on Engines at 50 Below.

A while ago the aviation gang into place and fastened.

At home a scaffolding would be necessary, but here the drifted surface is so high that it furnished as perfect platform around the laightest harm. Always keep a bottle in the house. It is the safe and sensible thing when children are alling. Whether it's the stomach, colic or constipation. When tiny tongues are coated or the hearth is unpleasant.

Working on Engines at 50 Below.

A while ago the aviation gang went to work on it. They set up a stove made of a gasoline drum in one corner, from which a tin chimney carried the fumes of burning seal blubber to the surface just behind the wing.

It was desperately cold for such work when they began on the engines—50 below zero. They could not work with gloves all the time, and, although they covered their hands with grease, they became burned and blistered from handling metal tools. Getting off a carburetor or overhauling valves had to be done with dogged patience and

The room was large, 15 feet high at least, and shadowy space stretched away under the fuselage and into another big cavern on the other side, where the other wing motor hung.

A soft blue light filtered throug the snow high up on the wall and overhead yellow light shone through the canvas roof. A blow-torch under an engine threw up a thin blue flame. Ice glistened on the side of the metal fuestings. At one side was a long bench covered

The figures of men became defined as eyes became accustomed to the light. Up in front, on a ledge of snow, was Benny Roth, a chunky figure in his woolen parka covered with wind-proof, serious as always and efficient, working with bare hands on the 550-horse-power engine in the nose of the plane. Pete Demas, in a fur cap and canvas fur-lined coat, stood plane. Pete Demas, in a fur cap and canvas fur-lined coat, stood beside him, stamping his feet, ready to do something on the outside of the motor that had connection with the play of Roth's fingers far up behind the ring of cylinders.

Through the windows of the fuselage Bernt Balehen and Kennard Bubier could be seen working. The door was open, and one could step inside to a floor slippery as glass from snow. Balchen wore his usual grin, never so happy as when working on a plane. He and Bubier were overhauling the gas lines, rearranging the system slightly to meet Antarctic conditions. In the center section overhead somebody was acrambling around—Alton Parker, working there on fittings for the wing tips.

New Ski Pedestals Put On.

Day after day these men have been working in a temperature which few mechanics would face at home. They checked motors, rigged throttle and spark controls for the engines, changed the gasoline gauge, jacked the plane up and put on new ski pedestals and aligned.

Now it lies besides the smaller Fairchild, loaming above it, and this fleating hunk of ice on the edge of the wilderness begins to look like an aviation camp.

Getting the wing tips on was another problem. They were buried five feet deep under the snow, marked by stakes, having been there for safety last fall.

They were uncovered and found to be full of snow. How to get them out?

Can Atheists Be Believed Under Oath?

If she had lied and avowed a belief in Heaven and Hell, the testimony of Mrs. Edith Saunders Miller, it is pointed out, might have been accepted in behalf of her husband, who, with six codefendants, was tried and convicted at Charlotte, North Carolina, for the murder of Chief of Police Aderholt of Gastonia.

Judge N. V. Barnhill, presiding, held that Mrs. Miller's views were pertinent evidence as to her credibility and were proper material for her impeachment as a witness. "If I believed that life ends with death and that there is no punishment after death," the dispatches quote him as saying, "I would be less apt to tell the truth." And for that Judge Barnhill is put on trial before the bar of public opinion.

But in another part of the State, in Concord, Judge A. M. Stack, presiding in another case, held exactly the opposite opinion. He declared from the bench, we read in the press reports of the trial, that "a man's character is made up of acts and his conduct, and you can not impeach him for what he believes."

Here we have a conflict in law which has captured the attention of the entire country and brought down on the head of Judge Barnhill and on the ancient Tarheel statute an overwhelming torrent of editorial maledictions.

In "The Literary Digest" this week, November 9th issue, the entire subject is reviewed and editorial comment is presented which shows the tense feeling that the controversy has aroused everywhere. Other striking news-features

Harold June, who, although pilot, can do almost anything else and who has been working on the radio of the Fairchild with Dean Smith for several days, took charge of the maneuvering outside, while selection and the thereties the control of the maneuvering outside, while Balchen sat at the throttle with Dean beside him. Commander Byrd stood watchfully by to see that everything went smoothly. The rope in front was manned by 20 men and June raised his hand to go sheed.

Balchen opened the big motor. The men on the ropes behind pulled the tail back and forth to break out the skils. There was a "Yo-ho" on the rope in front, and

"Yo-ho" on the rope in front, and the huge plane moved forward easily and up the ramp, the cloud of snow blowing out behind it hitting the rear wall of the abandoned hangar and shooting a miniature blizzard into the air.

Plane Pulled to Surface.

Half way up, June waved to halt the plane a moment as it was turning slightly. It was pulled straight in a few moments and then the great, unwieldly bulk slid ponderously up to the level surface. The Commander and everyone around were looking as pleased as Punch, it had been a neatly executed bit of work.

The plane was then taxied into position on the edge of the field.

As there was no rudder, for the tail surfaces are now being put in place, men had to run behind the ship guiding it with ropes, and they had all the experience of ceing out in a terrific bilingard. Half concealed by the flying cloud of snow, they stumbled along blindly, their faces cut by tiny snow particles which even dug into their eyes and sheeted eyelids, nose and cheeke

Judge Booth, in his opinion, writes: "In a case of this sort three things should be considered — the fact that the corporation has done a legitimate business for some time, that business adversity does not necessarily point to fraud, and that the good faith of a defendant is ordinarily a complete defense. Where all substantial evidence is as consistent with innocence as with guilt, a conviction cannot be sustained. on of the st of Bert W. Zaehringer, 25 years old, who died suddenly Tuesday night at his home, 812 Scheel street, Belleville, disclosed a quantity of poison, according to a report made to Coroner Boyne, East St. Louis, by Dr. R. B. H. Gradwohl, St. Louis pathologist, who performed an autopsy yesterday. A note, indicating suicide, was found, but will not be disclosed until the inquest is held.

Zaehringer, who lived with his aunt, Mrs. Frieda Keefe, came home at 4:30 p. m., Tuesday from the First National Bank, where he was employed in the savings department, and complained of feeling ill. A hour and a half later his aunt went upstairs to his room and found him dead in bed. Bank officers reported to Coroner Boyne that the young man's accounts were in good order. of Bert W. The opinion, written by United States Circuit Court Judge Booth and filed here yesterday, reverses the conviction on the technical ground of error by the trial court in permitting the question as to whether dividends were paid from capital to go before the jury at the trial at Minneapolis in December, 1927. The Ligher court's opinion states that the evidence plainly shows that dividends were paid from earnings.

KILLED IN FALL FROM PLANE nges 150 Feet at New Jersey Airport; Two Versions of the Accident.

Nov. 7.—Henry Forgeits, student pilot, was killed yesterday at Te-terboro airport when he fell from the plane in which he was fly-ing with an instructor. The plane were given police. Witnesses on the ground said Forgeits, a police man, who was piloting the dual-controlled ship, climbed from his seat, balanced for an instant on one wing and then dropped to the ground.

Lieut. G. W. West, who was flying with Forgeits, said his student stood up on the cockpit to ask questions pertaining to the operation of the plane and was thrown out of his seat when the craft banked.

The game, besides giving the hard-working freshmen the football spotlight for a day, enabled the coaches of the two schools to obtain a look at their 1930 material and no doubt Coach Anderson of St. Louis was well pleased.

The Billikens ran their plays with snap and knew just what to do with the ball when they had it—and they had it in their possession almost the entire game. The ultimate outcome of the game was never in doubt after the first five

The outstanding player of the game was Benny LaPresta, 160-pound fullback, who displayed unusual ability in picking holes in the Washington line and who also has a very highly educated toe as his five place kicks after touchdown attest. Scott-Von Porat Next. The corporation's third stand-out match of the year is the Scott-Yon Porat affair next month and I can't cheer the Garden all the way up from the Battery to City Hall on that one because it actually was made by amateur promoters behind te Christmas Fund Show. Of course, New York is New York and you can't forever keep sap money from fighting its way into your good graces. But even sap money demands intelligence on the part of its custodians and this is one of the reasons that Chicago, Detroit and Los Angeles are stealing matches that normally belong to New York. Live boxing towns, they have live promoters whose practical experience makes the Garden look amateurish.

Frankly, the cities mentioned

these was Rickard's own, the Sharkey-Stribling event last winter. The other was the corporation-made fight between Sharkey and Loughran, which netted a lot of haircut money.

They have a $2,000,000 arena at St. Louis, too, That means something. People don't promote $2,000,000 worth of anything unless 000,000 worth of anything unless they have a legitimate notion that they are due to spend some of its profits. The venture means that St. Louis also is aware of New York's stagnation and is trying to get in on the good thing before York comes alive again. Paddy Harmon and Nate Lewis in Chicago have shown the rest of the cago have shown the rest of the country just how easily this can be done.

However, the Garden's lack of However, the Garden's lack of initiative is only one of the reasons. Another, and very insistent one, is the fact that a lot of hot sports got the frigidaire treatment in Wall street several weeks ago. A lot of them are trying to find money for the subway turnstiles, not for boxing. At that, I agree with the Garden's statement that this is relatively unimportant. this is relatively unimportant. Show them a good fight and they will go if they have to rob little Lemuel's bank.

This, as a matter of fact, leads the way to a more significant rea-son for the local famine: there as no man like Rickard for hanreally intricate problem of making a good fight look good. Also there a good fight look good. Also there is no Dempsey to walk down the street and make the whole town give chase. There isn't even a Tunney to make them mad. They simply have become apathetic. Commission-made regulations, of course, have kept champions like Walker, Mandell and Fields out of town. They are forced to fight at championship weight here, so natchampionship weight here, so nat-urally they stay away in a bedy. But is this the full answer? I

I doubt it because I doubt whether New York would have grossed over $100,000 for a Walk-

St. Louis does not have a definite speed limit for automobiles, but has an indefinite careless driving alw to cover speed cases, similar to the Missouri law. Most motorists here have been under the impression that, except in certain restricted areas, there was a straight speed limit of 25 miles an hour.

Attention was called to the true nature of the ordinance by Charles J. Dolan, former First Associate City Counseler, in an address before the Board of Aldermen. The code does not change the careless driving ordinance.

tion of speed is primarily a matter of State control, the model ordinance does not deal with it."

Dolan explained that the existing city ordinance says a speed in excess of 25 miles an hour shall be "presumptive, but not conclusive proof of careless driving," there being no such charge as "speeding" brought by the police. It is quite possible under some circumstances, he said, for a driver to exceed 25 miles an hour and not be subject to conviction. There must be some clear element of careless driving shown, he declared, such as passing of other automobiles or trolleys or 'pedestriana, rushing over crossings or weaving in traffic.

31 New Sections.

There are 31 sections in the new code, which are almost all supplementary to the existing 127 sections, Dolan said in his address, and only three existing sections will be repealed. One of those to tions, Dolan said in his address, and only three existing sections will be repealed. One of those to be repealed permits an automobile to pass a standing street car where there is no safety zone, but where there is eight feet clearance between the car and the machine. The pending code would require automobiles to stop behind standing street cars regardless of clear-ance.

Dolan said he did not favor this change, but that it was proposed in order to follow the national uniform code, Leaders of motors.

change, but that it was proposed in order to follow the national uniform code. Leaders of motorists also object to the change, on the grounds that the present arrangement is safe and facilitates traffic. Dolan thought the Board of Aldermen might omit this section.

The Safety Council, sponsoring adoption of the code, is conducting a campaign of addresses at meetings and over the radio this month to acquaint the public with it. The code was prepared by the Citizens' Traffic Committee, of which Dolan was a subcommittee chairman, in co-operation with the Safety Council. It follows the national standard set by a conference called by President Hoover when he was Secretary of Commerce.

"Relates to Pedestrians' Rights."

The pending code, Dolan said. "relates to the rights and duties of drivers when passing street cara driving on the car tracks or driving through or past safety sones, strict regulations are introduced covering such matters as turning automobiles at intersections, parking, and driving when the driver's seat."

Where there is no traffic officer or signal at an intersection. Dolan went on, the code would require a motorist to give a pedestrian starting to cross the right of way, and the pedestrian will be entitled to raise his hand to warn an approachin gmachine te stop. Dolan said this scheme had worked in some cities, but that drivers would have to be educated to it.

Duckett testified that he was talking, in the Kansas City office, with his superior, W. D. Moss, in St. Louis. Duckett gave such an account of his end of the conversation, and of Gus Nations' proximity to him at the time, as to indicate that Gus Nations had probably obtained, in this manner, the information, that a said was the information that a raid was to be made. Nations went back to St. Louis that night and made the raid the next morning before the other group was ready.

"From this testimony (of Duckett)," Attorney Cullen said in his communication to the Attorney-General, "the Government argued that Gus Nations' testimony that the defendant had caused the raid on the brewery was false and that he had raided it simply because he knew it was to be raided by Duckett and Moss' agents.
"I immediately denounced this testimony as false and demanded that Moss be brought in by the Government, predicting that he would repudiate the testimony of Duckett. Dyott, counsel for the Government, then announced to the Court in the presence of the jury that he had 'tried to get him here and could not. You do not wan him any worse than we do."

Depositions Contradict Duckett. Cullen says he has obtained deposition from Moss, now Prohibition Administrator at Albany, N Y., and of two other former members of the local enforcement group, E. B. Henson of Danville, Ky., and William C. Cooper of Des Moines, Ia. He offers the deposi-tions in contradiction of Duckett's testimony.

Heber Nations last week filed motion that Moss, Cooper, Henson and other witnesses living at a dis tance be summoned to the coming trial at the Government's expense as he was unable to meet their ex-penses. As the Federal statutes place a 100-mile limit on the sum-moning of defense witnesses at Government expense, Judge Davis was obliged to deny the motion as

PROF. DILLARD'S gaze moved to the chess table wonderingly.
"The black bishop," he repeated in a low tone. "Could that have been what was preying on his mind last night? It seems unbelievable that so trivial a thing could affect him so disastrously."

"Don't forget, sir," Vance reminded him, "that the black bishop was the symbol of his failure. It represented the wreckage of his hopes. Less potent factors have driven men to take their own lives."

A few minutes later Burke informed us that the Medical Examiner had arrived. Taking leave of the professor we descended again to the archery-roon, where Dr. Doremus was busy with hit examination of Pardee's body.

He looked up as we entered and waved one hand perfunctorfly. His Doremus was busy with hit examination of Pardee's body.

He looked up as we entered and waved one hand perfunctorfly. His usual jovial manner was gone.

"When's this business going to stop?" he grumbled. "I don't like the atmosphere round here. Murders—death from shock—suicides. Enough to give any one the creeps. I'm going to get a flice uneventful 'm going to get a nice uneventful

Heath grinned. "Is there any doubt about it being suicide?"

Doremus glared passionately at the Sergeant.

"What does it look like? A black-hand bombing?" Then he became professional. "The weapon suicide since time immemorial."

Dr. Doremus appeared soon afterwards and iterated his conclusion that Pardee had shot himself.

"That'il be my report," he said.

"Can't see any way out of it. To be sure, lots of suicides are fakes—but that's your province. Nothing in the least suspicious here."

Markham nodded with undisguised satisfaction.

Princesses of Europe Juliana of Holland Huge Sums Spent on Flowers

THERE is only one young wom-an today whose destiny as the tuture ruler of a country is as-sured and there is only one young woman being trained for that high office. She is H. R. H. Crown-Princess Juliana Louise Emma Maria Wilhelmina of Orange, only child of Her Majesty Queen Wil-helmina of the Netherlands, and the Prince Consort, H. R. H. Prince Henry of Mecklenbourg'Schwerin.

Henry of Mecklenbourg'Schwerin.

The question of marriage for this Princess is far more vital than for any other rayal Princess in Europe. An only child, as Queen Wilhelmina was an only child before her, there are no other heirs to the throne except distant relatives of the house of Orange who are not living in the country and who would not likely be recalled, in case Juliana should die without issue and the throne be vacated.

Though they have never met.

Though they have neven met, there have been rumors of an alliance with the Duke of Gloucester. a brother of the Prince of Wales (who for obvious reasons is not eligible), which would be a good eligible), which would be a good political move, or with one of the numerous Princes of the Swedish royal family. Queen Wilhelmina shrinks from society and does not care for the pomp of visits to other courts. When her majesty goes away for a holiday, as she does every summer, she usually chooses Switzerland, where there is no cover of amily to visit. But the part royal family to visit. But the past summer, though in strict incogsummer, though in strict incog-nite, Queen Wilhelmina and Prin-cess. Juliana went to Scandinavia instead. There also is talk of a Prince consort chosen from among the young men of the high aristoc-racy of Holland.

Most thrones being available for occupancy only through the male line, there have been compara-tively few women rulers in all of history. Women in positions of high authority are still in the ex-

Week-ends and holidays she spends with her parents, Queen Wilhelmins and Prince Henry, at The Hague. The girls living with her were chosen quite at random. The third is the daughter of a paster of French ulty of medicine. The third is the daughter of a paster of French name and descent, Mademoiselle Michelin. She is preparing herself to be a French teacher. It is said that Prince Henry, who always has been a great pal of Juliana, met the girl at a country fair, knowing, of course, who she was.

It is unlikely that Princess Juliana will stay long enough at the universit to obtain a degree. Already up on her eighteenth birthday there was question of establish-

She married the man she hated -for revenge!

Your Love Problems

I NOW pronounce you man and wife." The voice of the clergyman died away—and the bride and groom walked slowly into the vestry. David smiled as he glanced down at the small veiled head beside him.

Alone at last, David turned to her. "My dear..." he began, but stopped in sudden bewilderment. Why, this wasn't the girl who was to be his bride!

"Where is Sylvia?" he cried, "Why are you wearing her bridal clothes?" "Sylvia is beyond your reach," Kitty retorted. "I knew you would not recognize me if I wore this veil and held my head low. Have you forgotten how you made my sister suffer! I hate you and now I am going to make you suffer!"

lucky. She knew that her younger boy was quite different from his brother. If, indeed, he should find himself popular, it would be for reasons wholly different from those which had won the elder boy his leadership. Also she understood quite well that, although there was a very Robert Holifield 13847 Page Leona Surface 1413 Pendleton Arthur M. Daker 4060 Westminster Norma Lee Goade 4063 McPherson real affection between the boys, there was also a current of antagonism which, if Larry proved un-happy in the school situation, might readily produce a whole crop quarrels and hard feelings.

Brothers are born rivals, and it s tempting providence to throw them into situations which emphasize the personal equation. It is not wise to send away to school together brothers so nearly the same age that comparisons are in-evitable.

Personal tension is likely to develop, and the powers of one or the other are bound to be handlcapped in their expression. No boy should feel that he is expected to follow in his brother's footsteps. He should feel free to choose his own
